Possible Signs of Problems in Specific Sensorimotor Systems

1. Vestibular
   - Spinning, rocking
   - Self-stimulation types of activities
   - Decreased attention span
   - Decreased balance Lack of eye control

2. Tactile
   - Prefers not to be touched
   - Dislikes certain textures
   - Dislikes tight clothing
   - Holds pencil tightly or loosely
   - Inaccurate pain information

3. Proprioceptive
   - Enjoys tight hugs
   - Hugs tightly
   - Rough mannerisms
   - Increased clumsiness
   - Very visual

4. Postural Stability
   - High-guard shoulders
   - Poor gross-motor and fine-motor skills
   - Immature grasp

5. Bilateral Integration
   - Poor coordination of the two sides of the body
   - Decreased midline crossing
   - Mixed dominance
   - Limited right/left discrimination

6. Motor Planning
   - Slow moving
   - Refusal to perform new tasks
   - Slow speech
   - Decreased oral motor control

7. Auditory Processing
   - Mispronunciation of words
   - Decreased understanding of instructions
   - Echolalia
   - Visual Perception
   - Reversals
   - Skipping or omitting words
   - Unable to organize full written pages
   - Difficulty with copying
   - Closure difficulties